

ARBA Recognized Breeds Cross Word #1

Across

4. Smallest of the running breeds, the requested show order is lilac, blue, chocolate and then black.
6. Full arch breed ranging 6 to 9 1/2 pounds with a brilliant rich deep red color over slate blue undercolor.
7. This compact breed is known for it's 35 point fur in which the guard hair is the same length as the undercoat giving it's plush like effect.
9. The only cylindrical breed, these show in black, blue, chocolate and lilac varieties.
14. Mandolin shaped breed with roll back fur that show in black, blue and white varieties.
15. The smallest of the normal furred lops, this compact breed sports massive head set high and close to the shoulders.
18. Semi-arch breed with the heaviest minimum weights, this erect eared breed shows in black, blue, fawn, light gray, sandy, steel gray, and white.
20. Compact breed that has 50 points assigned to markings, including points for the blaze, saddle, undercut and stops, which show in black, blue, chocolate, gray, steel and tortoise.
21. 4 class commercial type breed of rich sepia color.
22. The only lop eared commercial breed, these massive rabbits must weigh at least 11 pounds for senior bucks and 11 1/2 pounds for senior does and have no top limit.

Down

1. Commercial type with standard variety only, which should have 2 rust colored lap spots inside the hind legs, and darker color on all extremities.
2. This compact breed is known for it's flyback fur with lots of luster which show in black, blue, broken, and chocolate varieties.
3. The smallest of the wool breeds this little breed weighs no more than 3 1/2 pounds and has small, erect ears. They are shown in groups rather than by individual varieties.
5. Semi arch breed with two recognized colors, blue and white and flyback fur.
6. Commercial type white breed with a lustrous deep black band around each eye.
8. A commercial breed that has 60 points assigned to markings, which are in either bars, bands or a combination of both and show in either japanese or magpie varieties.
10. Commercial breed known for it's bluish white body interspersed evenly with longer jet black hairs and darker colored butterfly marking on the nose & muzzle.
11. Running breed that assigns 10 points to the herringbone(spine) marking, shows in black, blue, chocolate, gold, gray, lilac and tortoise.
12. The only mandolin shaped lop, this breed is known for it's trademark minimum 21 inch long ears which account for 33 points.
13. Compact breed that is all white except for either a black or chocolate colored neat band around the eye.
16. The wool breed lop known for a massive head with a mid shoulder mount, this breed with a max weight of 4 pounds was accepted at the 1988 ARBA Convention in Madison, WI.
17. Only running breed with no maximum weight, shown in black and blue varieties.
19. Compact breed that sports a coat which must have an appearance of distinct, glossy, lustrous sheen, and shows in chinchilla, opal, red, siamese and white.